Ray Mears Freed From Gallatin Jail On $75,000 Bond

Ray Mears, indicted in the slaying of Vinson York of New Haven the past summer, yesterday was released from the Gallatin county jail under bond of $75,000.

He is represented by two Harrisburg attorneys, D. F. Rumsey and Trafton Dennis.

Mears' two brothers, Robert and Hallis Mears, also indicted, have been released under bonds of $20,000.

Atty. Joe Bartley of Shawneetown, hired by the county to assist in the prosecution of the case, has withdrawn for reasons of health and Atty. Fletcher Lewis of Murphysboro has been hired in his place.

About Town

And Country

By TIMOTHEUS T.

HERE'S A PUZZLER: Timmo got a letter from Willard Fulkerson former Harrisburg resident who was transferred by General Telephone Co. to Jacksonville, Ill., a few months ago.

I can't figure out what happened. Here's his note:

"Thought I'd write and ask if you could solve the following problem. The family and I dropped by the home of some friends last Friday after bowling. During the course of conversation, the subject of home town news was brought up. The friends were visiting were Mr. and Mrs. John Emory, who had only recently moved to Jacksonville from Murphysboro.

"John, who was in the television business in Murphysboro, was hired by General Telephone as a transmission technician.

"The question of newspapers arose when he produced a copy of The Daily Register which had been mailed him from the office of the Southern Illinoisan instead of their usual Southern Illinoisan. The fact that 'next day' service prevailed has us guessing all the more. Got any answers?"

I have no answers. Obviously, the wrapper in the Southern Illinoisan mailing department grabbed up a Daily Register. But just why and how is the real nuzzler. Maybe the Southern Illinoisan could tell us.

WILLARD writes a P. S. that Jacksonville high has a football team "that compares favorably to H. T. H. S. a la. Catlin, Bobka Vandy, Zimmer and Co."

PUSH-BUTTON gasoline sales may be just around the corner. Petroleum Week magazine says:

"If a new experimental preset device is successful, station attendants will be free to spend more time on service and salesmanship," the article says. "The new device enables the attendant to push one of eight buttons and be sure the pump will deliver a specific dollar or gallon amount into the customer's tank."

HERE'S SOMETHING ELSE NEW. The magazine, Product Engineering, reports that a double row of silicon wafers atop a soldier's helmet can generate enough electrical power to run a transmitter-receiver of a standard army helmet radio. The wafers are solar batteries that convert the sun's energy into electrical energy, the article explains.

Former 'Gangbuster'

Rogers Sworn In As Attorney General by President Eisenhower

WASHINGTON (AP)—William P. Rogers, handsome young former New York "gangbuster," today was sworn in as attorney general of the United States.

President Eisenhower and other members of his cabinet witnessed the ceremony in the White House conference room.

Rogers, 44, succeeded Herbert Brownell Jr. He became the youngest member of the cabinet.

He is a close friend of Vice President Richard M. Nixon and former associate of Thomas E. Dewey when Dewey was the "gangbusting" district attorney of New York. He became deputy attorney general on Jan. 28, 1953, at the beginning of the first Eisenhower administration.

"Now you get your diploma," Eisenhower said to Rogers after Chief Justice Earl Warren administered the oath of office.

The swearing-in ceremonies were held immediately following the President's meeting with his cabinet.

The President planned to devote a large part of his day to the Justice Department. After witnessing Rogers' swearing in, he was slated to make a few "impromptu" remarks at the FBI Academy's graduation exercises.

The Chief Executive later planned to attend a lunch at the Justice Department marking Brownell's departure. He also will get a chance to hear first-hand reports on some of the problems facing the department from some of its top officials.

Brownell will return to private law practice with Lord, Day, and Lord of New York.

Tornadoes Kill 11

By United Press

A cold front slammed into warm southern air today and touched off tornadoes that whiplashed three states, killing at least 11 persons.

This was the casualty count: Alexandria, La., 3; Lafayette, La., 2; Boye, La., 1; Grove, Tex., 2; Orange, Tex., 1; Cruger, Miss., 2.

A number of persons were injured in the three states.

Tornado alerts were out for parts of Georgia, Mississippi and South Carolina and small craft were warned on flying from Tampa, Fla., north to St. Marks.

The Weather Bureau said the turbulent weather was caused by the onrush of a cold front which was expected to plunge temperatures to the low 30s by Saturday as far south as middle Georgia. Atlanta was lashed by 30 miles an hour winds but no serious damage was reported there.

Two persons were killed three miles south of Cruger, Miss., in Holmes County. Thursday night when a twister demolished their home. The victims were identified as Mr. and Mrs. John Walter Parker whose bodies were found outside their shattered dwelling.

A twister early today crashed through a heavily populated farm community 15 miles northwest of Lafayette, La., and the state police said two persons were killed. They said 13 persons were rushed to a hospital in Lafayette, 75 miles south of Alexandria, with serious injuries. Seven or eight houses were demolished.

Hardest hit appeared to be Alexandria, where at least three persons were killed, and Groves, Tex., four miles from Port Arthur. Two persons were killed there, another died at Orange, Tex., 16 miles northeast of Port Arthur. The state police said one person was killed at Boyce, La., near Alexandria.

The tornadoes struck long past their normal season. They approached under cover of torrential rain and left hundreds injured. Damage was expected to mount into the millions.

At Groves, 11 persons were reported critically injured and 42 hospitalized with minor injuries.

A nurse at a Port Arthur hospital, to which most of the Groves casualties were rushed, said at least a hundred persons were treated for minor injuries and released.

In Alexandria 14 persons were in two smaller hospitals while at tendants at the largest hospital in the city of 30,000 were too busy treating injured to make even a remote estimate of tornado casualties there.

Other tornadoes struck and caused damage at Nome, Port Arvres, and China, all near Port Arthur in southeast Texas, and at Torras in southwest Louisiana. The twisters also struck Iota, Bossier Parish, and Grand Prairie in central Louisiana.

At Orange about 100 homes were damaged or destroyed and at Groves, about 50 homes were smashed and many others damaged.

Nine warships in the Navy's "mothball fleet" anchored in a channel of the Sabine River at Orange were set free by the twister and started drifting away. Navy crews were after them.

Killian Plans Scientific Advisory Group

MIT President, Missile Czar, to Begin Work Next Week

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—Dr. James R. Killian Jr., the new presidential assistant for science and technology, today planned the formation of a scientific advisory group as his first step towards hastening the nation's defense program.

The Massachusetts Institute of Technology president said Thursday night after the announcement of his appointment by President Eisenhower is a nationwide television speech, that he hoped to assume his new duties in Washington by next week.

At a news conference in his office at the institute, Killian said he would "move as rapidly as possible to marshal the best scientific and engineering judgment and creative talent in the United States to make it available to the President for the formulation of national policy which involves science and technology.

He said the essential part of his plan was a "very strong scientific advisory group . . . and the recruiting of this group will proceed with the utmost dispatch."

The 53-year-old educator said he was "confident" that American science can do the job required by the nation "and that we can meet any crisis just as the American people have always been able to meet any crisis."

Killian said his "advisory group" would comprise "the best scientific minds in the country." "The potential for advance is tremendous," Killian said, "and I feel that there is a sense of urgency, mission and dedication in the scientific and engineering community of the United States capable of meeting the need."

Veterans' Day Program Monday At Court House

The annual Veterans Day program on the south porch of the Saline county court house will be held in Harrisburg Monday morning around 11 a. m.

Speaker will be County Judge Trafton Dennis, who will deliver remarks appropriate to the occasion.

Harrisburg will observe Veterans' Day as a holiday with offices and businesses that close on holidays being closed that day. There will be no issue of The Daily Register.

Grand Exalted Ruler to Address Harrisburg Elks

H. L. Blackledge of Kearney, Neb., Grand Exalted Ruler of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, will address the Harrisburg Elks and visitors from other lodges on Wednesday evening, Nov. 13, at a banquet at the Country Club marking the start of the local lodge's 50th anniversary celebration. Exalted Ruler John F. Small announced today.

The leader of America's 1,200,000 Elks, a 57-year-old lawyer, is general counsel and a member of the board of directors of the First National Bank of Kearney, the city's largest financial institution, and is active in many civic enterprises in addition to his years of service to Elksdom.

Exalted Ruler Small also announced that tickets for the banquet are now on sale at the club, or can be procured from officers of the lodge, and he urged local Elks to purchase their tickets early, as seating for the banquet is necessarily limited.

Mrs. Barbara Ryan, 94, Dies at Galatia

Mrs. Barbara Ryan

Mrs. Barbara Ryan, 94, died in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Elsie Baker, in Galatia Thursday. She is survived by her sister, Mrs. H. C. Somers of Harrisburg, in addition to her daughter. The body will lie in state at the Courtney funeral home in Galatia until the funeral at 1:30 p. m. Sunday.

The funeral services will be held in the Union Grove Freewill Baptist church west of Galatia, where she was a member, and will be conducted by Rev. Jasper Armstrong of West City, near Benton. Burial will be in the Webber Camp Ground.

Five grandchildren, two great grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild, also survive.

Illinois Baptists To Meet at West Frankfort in 1958

PINCKNEYVILLE, Ill. (AP)—The Illinois Baptist State Assn. has chosen the First Baptist Church of West Frankfort as the site of its 1958 convention Oct. 21-23.

The 1,500 delegates who wound up their golden jubilee convention here Thursday named Harold Cameron of Chicago, regional missionary, to deliver the annual sermon next year.

Dr. W. A. Carleton, professor at the Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary at Berkeley, Calif., gave the golden jubilee sermon Thursday.

Ex-Justice Reed Heads Civil Rights Group

Three Southerners, Negro Named to Commission of Six

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressmen generally today praised President Eisenhower's selection of members for his bipartisan Commission on Civil Rights. But some Southerners complained the group would lean heavily toward integration.

Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.), a member of the judiciary committee which will consider the President's choices, said they were "men of talent and ability who ought to be able to submit a helpful report on civil rights problems."

But Rep. Ralph Scott (D-N.C.) said the group appeared to be "heavily weighted for integration."

Eisenhower late Thursday named three Southerners and one Negro to the six-member commission. His choice: were in line with his aim to establish a commission to represent all shades of opinion on the civil rights issue.

Picked to head the group as chairman was 75-year-old former Supreme Court Justice Stanley F. Reed, 72, a Kentuckian, was a member of the high court when it handed down its unanimous decision in 1954 to outlaw segregation in the public schools.

Others named were former Virginia Gov. John S. Battle, a strong foe of integration; J. Ernest Wilkins, Negro assistant secretary of labor; the Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, president of the University of Notre Dame; Robert G. Storey, dean of the Law School at Southern Methodist University; and John A. Hannah, former assistant secretary of defense and now president of Michigan State University.

The six are subject to Senate confirmation when Congress reconvenes in January. They will be given recess appointments so they can begin work immediately.

The commission was created by the Civil Rights Bill passed in the last session of Congress. It is authorized to investigate alleged violations of minority voting rights, to study other civil rights abuses, and to make recommendations to Congress and the White House for improving racial relations.

President Announces Program to Wipe Out Any Temporary Soviet Lead

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press White House Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower told the nation Thursday night he has named a "czar" to push U. S. missile development and other scientific programs "with the utmost possible speed."

In a "lay-the-facts-before-you" address on radio and television, the Chief Executive conceded "the Soviets are quite likely ahead in some missile and special areas, and are obviously ahead of us in satellite development."

But he said that "it is my conviction, supported by trusted scientific and military advisers that . . . as of today the overall military strength of the Free World is distinctly greater than that of the Communist countries."

He announced a five-point "program of action," topped by the naming of a special assistant on science and technology, to wipe out any "temporary" edge Russia may enjoy with its space satellites and rocket advances.

And, in a progress report on U. S. developments, he officially confirmed that:

Solved Major Obstacle

—U. S. scientists have "solved" one of the major obstacles to perfecting an intercontinental ballistic missile — the problem of how to get the missile back to earth once it has soared into space without having it burn up from friction on re-entering the atmosphere.

—The Air Force Snark, a subsonic, jet-propelled pilotless bomber recently flew 5,000 miles—intercontinental distance — "and was accurately placed on target."

—The United States derived "most valuable information about outer space" in the recent Air Force firing of a rocket to between 2,000 and 4,000 miles over the Pacific.

Lists Other Steps

Eisenhower said he had named Dr. James R. Killian, president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, to the newly-created post of special assistant to the President for science and technology. He said he expected Killian to mobilize "the full abilities of the scientists and engineers of our country."

Eisenhower listed these other

Soil District to Form Advisory Committee of 25 County Farmers

The monthly meeting of the directors of the Saline County Soil Conservation District was held Nov. 7, one week early this month since some of the directors are planning to attend the convention of the Illinois Agricultural Association in Chicago next week.

Directors and associate directors present were: Ewell Harris, Carl Vance and Alva Gholson. Others present included Tom Morgan, SCS, farm planner.

The district has requested 25 farmers of the county to serve on an SCD advisory committee. This committee would have the responsibility each year of reviewing the work and accomplishments of the district and assist the directors in formulating the next year's program of work. The first meeting of this committee is scheduled for Monday night, Dec. 2, at Santy's restaurant in Harrisburg.

The following land owners were accepted by the directors as co-operators with the district: Lester R. Lightfoot, Gustin and Hill, and Lewis C. Brooks.

Tom Morgan made his report of the activities of the Soil Conservation service staff for the steps he has taken as part of his "program of action."

—Order that "any new missile or related program hereafter originated will, whenever practicable, be put under a single manager and administered without regard to the separate services."

—Said he would ask Congress "to remove legal barriers to the exchange of appropriate technological information with friendly countries."

As for the future, the President said there are two critical needs the nation must meet which he will discuss in another speech Nov. 13 at Oklahoma City.

He listed these as "the failure of us in this country to give high enough priority to scientific education and to the place of science in our national life" and the necessity of "giving higher priority, both public and private, to basic research."

Working On 38 Types

In reporting on U. S. missile progress, the President said the United States now has 38 different types either in operation or under development — "weapons adapted

President is Praised for Missile Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democrats today hit President Eisenhower's plans to whip the U. S. missile program into a commanding position as too late. But Republicans said he is doing everything that should be done to meet Russia's space challenge.

The White House said it received in the first two hours of business this morning more than 500 telegrams "reflecting wholehearted support" of Eisenhower's speech and scientific program.

There was virtually complete agreement over whether the President had picked the right man to take over command of the nation's scientific effort in Dr. James R. Killian, president of Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Killian has served previously on presidential defense advisory boards.

Former President Harry S. Truman said Killian was "an excellent choice" for the job. But Truman said the abrupt scientific mobilization would not be necessary for, "with proper leadership, we would be well ahead of Russia today."

Stevenson Praises 'Pool'

Senate Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson said "the basic issue is whether we can produce the weapons that are needed in the time that is remaining." The Texan, who has ordered a full-scale investigation of the missile program, said he was happy that Eisenhower had noted a necessity for "a high sense of urgency."

But he said he had hoped "the President would stress what we need to do as well as what we have done."

Adlai Stevenson said, "I'm not clear from his speech whether the President is satisfied with our military missile and scientific situation or not . . . but I'm happy that he is going to try and pool our scientific efforts with our Allies. We need all the brains we have and can borrow."

Other comment: Speaker Sam Rayburn said in Texas that he hoped the President "will see that the programs are carried out."

In charge he should put someone in charge of the programs that will make the conflicting interests in the Pentagon work together," he said.

Republicans Laud Speech

Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-N.Y.) said the President showed himself to be "the Eisenhower of the crusade in Europe. He touched all bases. This is a crisis."

Rep. John Taber (R-N.Y.), top Republican member of the powerful House Appropriations Committee, said "the President was up on his toes (during the broadcast)" and that he was doing everything that should be done to meet the situation.

JACK ANDERSON Says:
Armed Services' Feud Flares
Up At Senators' Briefing On Satellites - Missiles; Pentagon
Is Worried Sick Over Sputnik
II; Moscow May Fire At North Pole.

(Editor's Note: While Drew Pearson is traveling in the Far East, the following column is written by his assistant, Jack Anderson.)

WASHINGTON.—The Army-Air Force feud over guided missiles flared up sharply during the closed-door briefing which Pentagon officials gave Senators Russell (Ga.), Johnson (Texas), Democrats; and Bridges (N. H.), Republican.

Richard Horner, Air Force assistant secretary in charge of research, was describing the Air Force's anti-missile missile, the Wizard. He explained that this was part of the Air Force's air defense mission. Whereupon Dr.
William H. Martin, Army research director, leaped to his feet and shouted: "I would like to dispute that!"

Martin started to protest, but Secretary of Defense Neil McElroy cut him off. "This is neither the time nor the place for an inter-service wrangle," said the new secretary of defense gruffly.

Dr. Martin meekly took his seat, and the Air Force spokesman continued briefing the senators.

Earlier, Lyndon Johnson had compared the Sputnik launching with his heart attack. Lyndon told the closed-door group: "My doctor told me if I hadn't had this warning and done something about it I would have had a much more serious attack later."

He said that the Sputnik should alert the nation in the same way that his heart attack alerted him.
It was better to have a warning,
he said, so long as it wasn't fatal.

Each service was allotted one hour to brief the senators. However, the Army spent two and a half hours and made powerful claims for jurisdiction over ballistic missiles.

BATTLED FOR ARMY

Senator Russell sided with the Army. At one point, he bluntly asked the Air Force why it was in the ballistics business, which he considered the Army's field.

"I understand all the Jupiters have been successful and only part of the Thors have been successful," Russell declared at one point. He demanded to know why the Defense Department had been "holding back" the Jupiter.

The other two senators did not take sides in the inter-service missile feud, but asked broad questions.

The Navy, for its part, told the senators it was dissatisfied with the Vanguard program, had never liked it, and had been forced into it.

The Air Force claimed all its missile projects were on schedule.
Regarding the Thor, it claimed all the failures had been purely mechanical and that nothing basically wrong had been discovered.
On the other hand, some of the Jupiter's failures had been caused by basic malfunctions, the Air Force claimed. The Air Force also argued that its Thor was a production-line model, whereas the Jupiter was hand-built.

Undersecretary of Defense
Quarles did most of the speaking for the Defense Department regarding the Sputnik. He made no attempt to belittle the Soviet achievement. Sputnik, he said, was launched from a point east of the Caspian Sea at a 65-degree angle. This required far more power, he told the senators, than we would use to launch our Sputnik at Cape Canaveral at a 35-degree angle.

The meeting adjourned at 6 p.
m. to permit Secretary of Defense
McElroy, Undersecretary Quarles and Gen. Nate Twining to attend a White House dinner. As a result, the Air Force, last on the briefing list, had little time to present its side of the picture.

ELECTRONIC SPY

It's impossible to exaggerate the alarm felt in the Pentagon regarding Russia's latest Sputnik.

The alarm is based on the fact that Sputnik II is of such size that it could become an electronic spy on every military installation in the United States.

The dog-carrying Sputnik is probably peaceful enough. But the next could be equipped with instruments able to locate all U. S. defense installations and spy on our military movements. Sputnik can communicate its findings every four hours by secret code to Moscow. It could report on what

Answer to Previous Puzzle

News from the State Capitol

If you should see a wild duck among those in front of your blind apparently wearing nose glasses, don't be alarmed. It probably is one of 600 ducks tagged by the Minnesota Department of Conservation with a new visual marker device which is affixed to the bill of the bird.

Director Glen D. Palmer of the Illinois Department of Conservation asked Illinois hunters to help Minnesota in its collection of research. This can be done by: 1.
Notifying the Minnesota department if you see a duck bearing one of these new-type nose markers
2. Reporting the weight of the duck as well as the number of the marker, should you kill one of these ducks. 3. Returning the head of the duck to Minnesota, if you should kill one of these birds.

Information should go to Arnold
B. Erickson, Game Research supervisor, Bureau of Research and Planning, Department of Conservation, 600 Shubert Building, St.
Paul 1, Minnesota.

Joseph S. Gerber, director of the Illinois Department of Insurance, warned all Illinois citizens to be on guard against solicitation of insurance by representatives of the Pioneer Auto Insurance Company.

The director said that this company is not licensed to conduct an insurance business in the state.
Gerber stated, "Information which has come to our department that this company is licensed to transact an insurance business in the state of Alabama has been denied by James J. Horn, commissioner of insurance in Alabama."

The department urged all citizens to be on guard against solicitation of this insurance not only by their representatives but also by solicitation through the mails.

Official summaries for the first nine months of 1957 show 12 fewer persons died in traffic accidents in Illinois as compared with the same period last year, safety officials reported to Governor William G. Stratton.

"If one life is saved," Governor Stratton said, "it is worthy of recognition. This feat was accomplished in the face of rising automobile mileage traveled. We are proud of the advances we have made so far."

"The safety legislation passed by the recent General Assembly which went into effect on July 1 has allowed us to show an improvement for the first nine months as compared with last year. For the first time, we appear to have levelled off this tragic toll."

Expanded educational programs are needed to inform public, courts, and medical profession that mental retardation is not hopeless, but in some instances can be prevented, or, if promptly diagnosed and treated, carries a good prognosis for effective life adjustment.
These facts were emphasized at a meeting of Governor William G.
Stratton's commission on mental retardation.

That awful feeling comes from getting halfway through an argument and then realizing the other fellow is right.

The Plush Look for Fur Fabrics

BY GAILE DUGAS
NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK (NEA)—A new way to look at coats of man-made fibers is to regard them not as imitations of fur but as beauties in themselves, beauties with a plush look.

This is the attitude of designer

Charles James, who has made use of bologna for a collection of coats bearing his signature.

For the collection, he has used neutral colors for daytime and tawny, taupe, charcoal and beige. Stark white and a clear navy called celestial blue are reserved for late day. This particular blue is his choice for wear in place of black this winter.

Neckline treatments include face framing collars, the cardigan and broad lapels. Sleeves go uncuffed and backs are narrow.

We show here two bologna coats from this designer's collection. Almond silhouette appears (left) with rounded shoulder line and slight fullness released just under the collar. Lining is pure silk taffeta.

Shortened bottle silhouette is used (right) for coat with tiny shoulders and a belting of the fur fabric just below the armholes.

Intersection of U. S. 40-49 Near Casey Declared Most Accident Prone in State

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—The intersection of U. S. 40 and Ill. 49 near Casey, in Clark County, today was given the unhappy distinction of being the most accident prone non-urban spot in Illinois.

Highway division statisticians reported the intersection has averaged a rate of 7.3 accidents per million vehicles passing through it per year.

An accident rate of more than three accidents per million vehicles places an intersection in the "accident prone" category.

A. J. Cope, a highway statistical engineer, has just finished compiling a list of the most critical intersections in primary Illinois and,

U. S. routes in the state outside cities, based on traffic and accident counts for 1954-56.

He reported a total of 47 intersections chalked up a record of more than three accidents per million vehicles per year.

Ranked behind the Clark County intersection was the crossing of Ill. 88 and Ill. 92 in Bureau County near the Whiteside County line, with an accident rate of 7.0. Third was that of U. S. 66 and Ill. 47 near Dwight, with a 6.7 rate, and ranked fourth was U. S. 67-Ill. 92 south of Rock Island with a 6.1 rate. The fifth most accident-prone intersection was Ill. 72-Ill. 59 west of Chicago in Cook County.

Cope said the pattern of the 47 worst intersections concentrated in a broad strip about 60 miles wide running between the East St. Louis metropolitan area and the Chicago area.

There were a few further east, near the Indiana border, and others scattered in the northwestern Illinois area. Many of them were intersections with low traffic volume; hence few accidents would show up on a per million vehicle per year index.

The Highway Division studies are continuing, and when a bad intersection is indicated it is studied for possible accident causes. Where physical changes are needed Cope said, like installation of traffic signals or four-way stop signs, or the removal of visual obstructions, they are made as quickly as possible.

Some intersections show no apparent cause for high accident rates, however, Cope said. The accidents are apparently purely accidents. And sometimes, he said, stepped up local traffic law enforcement cuts down accident rates at an intersection.

Cope defined intersections with an average traffic volume of over 10,000 vehicles per day as having heavy traffic; 5,000 to 10,000 as medium traffic; and under 5,000 as light traffic.

The U. S. Ill. 49 intersection thus was in the medium traffic category. The second worst intersection carried light traffic; the third medium; the fourth light, and the fifth medium.

The next 11 most accident prone intersections on non-urban highways follow, with the list showing location, accident rate per million vehicles per year, and traffic volume:

Ill. 89-U. S. 17 near Varna, 5.0, light; U. S. 65B-Ill. 111 near Granite City, 4.8, heavy; U. S. 136-Ill. 121 near Lincoln, 4.8, light; U. S. 52-U. S. 51 at Mendota, 4.8, light; the north intersection of U. S. 136-Ill. 49 in Vermilion County, 4.7, light; U. S. 67-Ill. 100 near Beardstown, 4.7, light; Ill. 116-U. S. 52 northwest of Watseka, 4.6, light; east intersection of U. S. 54-U. S. 24 near Gilman, 4.6, medium; Ill. 123-Ill. 29 between Athens and Greenview, 4.6, light; U. S. 41-Ill. 120 near Gurnee in Lake County, 4.5, heavy; and U. S. 12-Ill. 58 near Des Plaines, 4.5, heavy.

OBTAIN LEGAL SEPARATION—Actress Ingrid Bergman and her producer-director husband, Roberto Rossellini, obtained a legal separation in Rome, citing "incompatibility of character" as their grounds. The couple are shown here as they returned to Rome after their Paris reunion on October 31st. (NEA Telephoto)

Ingrid to Return to Hollywood in February; Expect Mexico Divorce

ROME (AP)—Friends of Ingrid Bergman said today she was through with marriage forever and would head for an independent middle age like that of Greta Garbo, her Swedish forerunner.

For Roberto Rossellini the future was not so simple. He has been reported involved with Sonali Das Gupta, the wife of an Indian movie executive, but he lives in a land of no divorce.

Speculation was that the couple would seek a quick divorce in Mexico, ending the marriage-by-proxy in Juarez, Mexico, on May 24, 1950, which legalized their torrid romance.

The legal separation the couple obtained in 90 minutes before a Rome magistrate Thursday was to all intents and purposes the end of the marriage. Italy does not grant divorces but in some instances recognizes them.

Rossellini divorced his first wife, Marcella de Marchis, in Austria and it was recognized by the Turin Court of Appeals on Jan. 14, 1950, after a legal battle.

It was announced in Hollywood that Ingrid would return to the U. S. movie capital in February for her first American picture in seven years. Miss Bergman will make "The Inn of Eight Happinesses" for 20th Century Fox.

She will go to London Monday to start a film with Cary Grant.

Ingrid got the children, seven-year-old Robertino and five-year-old twins Isotta and Isabella, but agreed that Rossellini could see them any time he wanted. She also agreed to educate them in Europe. A high Vatican source said mean-

IN THE SERVICE

Sergeant L-C Leo E. Smith, son of Mrs. Pearl Smith, North McKinley, Harrisburg, is receiving six weeks of gunnery training with the 826th Tank Battalion at Fort Stewart, Ga. After completion of the training, Sgt. Smith will return to Fort Benning, Ga., where he is a tank commander in the battalion's Company B. Sgt. Smith is a veteran of 12 years of Army service. He has served in the European theatre. His wife, Ilse, lives in Columbus, Ga.

Maj. Gerald A. Champlin, son of Mrs. Ruth Ward of Eldorado, recently was graduated from a refresher course in command and staff procedures at Army Medical Service School, Fort Sam Houston, Texas. Major Champlin, whose wife, Norma, lives at Fort Eustis, Va., entered the Army in 1942.

while the Bergman-Rossellini legal separation was the logical end of "a match not blessed by God."

The Roman Catholic Church never recognized the marriage as valid because they had obtained divorces.

"THE TIMES ARE BIG WITH TIDINGS"

—Robert Southey

Hardly a day passes but we are informed of progress being made in our constant fight against disease. Research workers are always looking for new drugs, antibiotics and man-made chemicals.

Each one is clinically tested against every possible ailment with the hope that a better way of treatment will be found. Millions of dollars are often spent to perfect a single new drug.

As soon as a new drug is released for safe use, we stock it in our prescription department. It is a remarkable achievement that the average charge of all the prescriptions dispensed is less than three dollars.

Here is a price that would command attention today. Twenty years ago you wouldn't have noticed it.

Aren't there any bargains left?

Yes, a few... and electricity is one of them. The average residential bill in the CIPS service area is considerably higher because CIPS customers use four times as much electricity today as they did 20 years ago. However, they pay nearly one-third less per kilowatt-hour because of their increased usage... and because we are constantly improving techniques and placing into operation more efficient equipment.

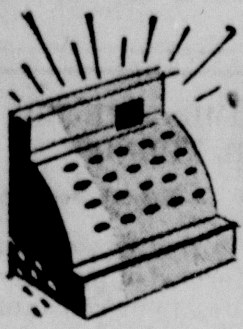

When you consider the many jobs electricity does around the home, the few cents a day spent for it become just about the biggest bargain in the family budget, worth every cent that is paid for it... and then some.

Remember—your electric bill covers two full months of dependable service. Divide your total bill by 60 and see how little it costs to live better electrically.

Junior Play at Galatia High School Tonight

The annual Junior play will be held at the Galatia high school, tonight, at 7:30. The name of the play is Billy's Goat, a comedy in three acts.

Henry Carter (Floyd Hall) runs his carpet tack business, but his family is beyond him. His daughter, Violet (Brenda Malone), is movie struck and on the verge of eloping with a director; his daughter, Madge (Peggy Mitchell), is a publicity hound intent on annexing the world's record for engagements to prominent or notorious men, ranging from South American explorers to the latest pugilistic champion. Her present heart-throb is a current popular poet, Angel (John Williams), who is inspired by April showers and spring gardens. Henry's wife (Thelma Malone), is interested in dinners and parties, the larger and more expensive the better. Even Beulah (Brenda Pulliam), the maid, who should have been drowned at birth, but someone overlooked the matter, gives Henry many moments of grief.

On a dreary April day, when the family is particularly upsetting, Billy Hay (Noyl Hankins), comes to sell Carter a radio program

CAPTAIN EASY

Those Papers

BY LESLIE TURNER

The Daily Register, Harrisburg, Illinois

That Pass!

and stays to become the father of the entire family for a month. Henry leaves for a vacation of peace... and Billy has his hands full trying to control the destinies of the various members of the household... none of whom is willing to give him the least cooperation. He finally resorts to spanking Madge right in the middle of the second act... when she is determined to jump from an airplane with two parachutes. This leads to love at first smack; but they are not permitted to be happy until after Violet tries to elope with a married man, Beulah falls in love with Billy as an ideal "movie hero," and the house is cleared of suitors when Billy spreads the rumor that the Carters have lost their money and must go to work. This brings Henry home quickly to kick Billy into the middle of next month... but he at last forgives to the extent of offering him the managership of his Los Angeles branch and all ends happily... for Billy and Madge. The rest of the family, ironically enough, is not much changed by his month of substituting as Papa. Other members of the cast are Miss Davis (Brenda Weaver), Mr. Carter's secretary; Miss Cool (Wilma Sisney), Mrs. Carter's secretary; Harold Hollingshead (Gary Hill), an Englishman. Marshes in the Leningrad region of Russia can be crossed only when frozen, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

What a swell feeling it would be if a fellow could earn his keep and keep what he earns.

Indian Camp Sunday School Class Meets

The Willing Workers class of the Indian Camp Sunday School had its regular meeting Friday night, Nov. 1, with Misses Wilma and Ruby McSparin as hostesses.

The meeting opened with singing the hymn "Revive Us Again" and the opening prayer was by Pauline McSparin.

Roll call was answered with "Something I'm Thankful For" or a scripture verse. Wilma McSparin read the scripture lesson, "The Last Judgment," from Revelations 20: 11-15 and 27: 1-7.

Entertainment included several readings: "Life's Mirror," by Edna Bailey, "Home," by Pauline McSparin, "When Father Carves the Duck," by Opal Hill, "Don't Quit, Fight One More Round," by Wilma McSparin, "Conscience," by Violet Jane Sims.

Solos included "If You Love Your Mother," by Lucretia Stone, "A Perfect Day," by Wanda Dunn, "The Cremation of Sam McGee," by Ruby McSparin, "I Shall Not Pass Again This Way," by Genevieve Rix, "Chartless," by Betty June Sims, "Before Sleeping," by Sandra Bailey, "A Child's Prayer," by Sandra Stone.

The entire group joined in singing several hymns and Lucretia Stone led in prayer before the beginning of the business meeting.

Refreshments of pop corn and soft drinks were served by the hostesses to the above mentioned and Mesdames Alma McSparin and Ada McSparin and Jerry Stone.

CMCHS Prepares for Full Week- End of Homecoming Activities

Bon Fire, Pep Meeting, Snake Dance Tonight

Alumni, students, teachers and friends of the Carrier Mills Community High School have their fingers crossed, hoping the weather man will cooperate as well as he has in the past on CMCHS Homecoming week end.

The fifth annual homecoming program is scheduled for this evening and Saturday and first four homecomings were staged in near perfect weather. Will the "Carrier Mills luck" continue?

Homecoming committeemen report everything is in readiness for a full week end of activities.

The bon fire, pep meeting and snake dance will be held this evening. The bon fire and pep rally will start at 6 p. m. on the athletic field, then the celebration will move via the snake dance to the business district.

Saturday is the big day. The Homecoming parade starts at 2 p. m. Two basketball games, with the preliminary to start at 6:45, will be played Saturday night, followed by the dance and coronation.

There will be an Alumni Tea in Teen Town (Uzzle building) from 2 to 4 Saturday afternoon and following the parade there will be a meeting of the Letter Winners Association in Teen Town.

Everyone that has won a letter at CMCHS is eligible to become a member of the association and is cordially invited to attend the Saturday afternoon meeting.

Several classes are planning get togethers and the annual Old Timers dinner will be served in the IOOF hall at 5:30 p. m. Saturday.

During the basketball game all alumni will be introduced by classes and all alumni are requested to check with the mail committee on their mailing address. The committee will have a table in the lobby of the gym and an effort will be made to correct all addresses.

The homecoming parade promises to be the biggest and finest yet. At least 20 floats and 10 cars, plus marching units, are expected. The parade will be headed by the fire truck, then will come the high school band, followed by the pep club, queen candidates and floats.

The parade will start from Washington street near the grade school, move west to Main, proceed north on Main to Parker, west on Parker to Mill, south on Mill to Oak, east on Oak to Main, then north to Washington, where it will break up at the point of beginning.

There will be three prizes, $15, $10 and $5.

Long Distance Telephone Dialing Shown to Lions

Officials of the General Telephone Company of Illinois demonstrated long distance telephone dialing to members of the Carrier Mills Lions club at the club's regular meeting Monday evening.

During the demonstration it was stated that telephone users in this community would be able to dial directly to approximately 800 stations on Nov. 17, when the direct dialing equipment in the Harrisburg office of the General Telephone Company will be placed in operation.

Telephone officials at the Lions meeting included Byron Schoeder, public relations director, Springfield; Lewis Neilson, Division Manager, Murphysboro; James Thompson, Commercial superintendent, Murphysboro; M. H. Lynch, manager of the Harrisburg district office who made arrangements for the demonstration and Sam Rimel, manager from the Herrin office.

A. L. Willis, Carrier Mills high school coach, was welcomed as a new member of the club.

Randall Greeney has resigned as water superintendent in Creal Springs and has accepted a position in Niles, Mich. The mayor and Creal Springs city council will employ another man to fill Mr. Greeney's position soon.

Rites Held for Mrs. Laura Perry Of Creal Springs

Mrs. Laura C. Perry, 85, died Thursday, Oct. 31, 7:05 p. m. at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Louie Moroni, where she made her home in Creal Springs.

Mrs. Perry had been a resident of Creal Springs the past 48 years, and was the widow of J. B. Perry, who died in 1908. She had been ill for sometime from complications and a broken hip.

She was born in Simpson in Johnson county, Feb. 5, 1872. She leaves one daughter, Mrs. Louie (Monette) Moroni, Creal Springs; a son, E. W. (Wayne) Perry of Danville; two half brothers, Lewis Brumley, Cairo, and George Brumley, Vienna; seven grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

Three sons, Raymond, Guy and Robert Perry, two stepsons, Thomas and Herman Perry, and a stepdaughter, Mrs. Mamie Sharp, preceded her in death.

Mrs. Perry united with the old Creal Springs Presbyterian church early in life. The church dissolved about 35 years ago.

Funeral services were held Sunday at 2 p. m. at the First Baptist church in Creal Springs, with Rev. Hobart Peterson, church pastor, officiating.

The Cosby funeral home in Creal Springs was in charge and interment was in the Creal Springs city cemetery.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Cook are announcing the birth of their 11th grandchild. A girl, weighing nine pounds, one ounce, was born Oct. 24 to Mr. and Mrs. George Russell, Chicago. The baby has been named Lucy Ann. The mother is the former Miss Clara Mae Cook and Mr. Russell is a former employee of the Carrier Mills post office.

STONEFORT SCHOOL NEWS

By CAROL Bainbridge

Our attendance has certainly fallen this week due to the flu.

Miss Casey was in charge of assembly Monday morning. She read a scripture from Proverbs and the student body gave the pledge to the flag and sang America.

The seventh and eighth grades have been painting still life pictures of bowls of fruit and pitchers in art class. Some of these paintings are very good. Mrs. Nulty is the art teacher.

Our Indians wrapped up two victories this week in basketball. We won over Freeman Spur by a score of 74-14. Lindell Taylor, a pint sized eighth grader, led the scoring with 40 points.

We defeated Energy Tuesday night. Some of our first team players were unable to take part in this game due to the flu. Missing action because of illness were Charles Ozment, Billy Blackman and Max Felty.

We all were very sorry that H. V. and Wesley Trammell's home was destroyed by fire Sunday morning.

The next meeting of the P. T. A. will be Thursday, Nov. 14, at 7 p. m. The mothers have been asked to bring a pumpkin pie for refreshments. The 4-H will give their "Grand Ole Opry" show at the meeting. So be sure to come and join in the fun.

That's about it for this time. See you next week.

JUNIOR TRAINING CLASS HAS PARTY

The Junior Training class of the Stonefort Baptist church held a party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Claude L. Stricklin Thursday night.

Following the lesson, games were played and prizes awarded to Steve Lay and Jamima Smith. Refreshments of sandwiches, potato chips and soft drinks were served to Steve Lay, Carol Bainbridge, Billie Jo Blackman, Jamima Smith, Beverly Ann Stricklin and Billy Stricklin.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Bridges and family of Benton were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Corbett.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Stricklin and family spent Sunday in Harrisburg with Mr. and Mrs. George Mitchell.

Mr. and Mrs. Webster Hall and mother, Mrs. Pearl Hall, and Mrs. Kate Furlong visited Sunday evening with Mrs. Nancy Allen in Eldorado.

Mrs. Carolyn Stricklin was hostess to a party given Monday evening in honor of the members of the Primary and Beginners class of the Baptist church. Prizes were won by Susie Smith, Darwin Cagle and Mabel Joyner and refreshments of cookies and soda pop were served to the following members and guests, Susie Smith, Mabel and Mona Joyner, Kathia Jo and Deon Killman, Darwin Cagle, Martha Harper, Lynn Pritchett, Mary Helen Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Toby Pritchett, Mrs. Doris Killman, Mrs. Helen Martin, Mrs. Mary Lou Harper, Mrs. Alice Smith, Leonard Smith, Renata Martin, Beverly Ann Stricklin.

Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Nicholson and children of Carrier Mills and Mr. and Mrs. Rolla Whiteside visited Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. Webster Hall.

Mrs. Thelma Kennedy visited Mrs. Bertha Felty, who is ill, Tuesday morning.

The Ladies' Auxiliary met at the home of Mrs. Bee Wible of Carrier Mills Tuesday night. Those attending were Ethel Richardson, Pauline Borum, Phyllis Boswell, Velma Hall, Clara Nicholson and Marge Davis.

Mrs. Minnie Turner underwent surgery at the Harrisburg hospital Tuesday morning and is getting along as well as can be expected.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Tanner and daughter visited with Mr. Tanner's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tanner, of Creal Springs Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bailey visited Mr. and Mrs. Webster Hall a short while Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Joyce Barger, Mr. and Mrs. John Richards, Mr. and Mrs. Joel Lewis and children, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Dunn and family, Mrs. Nerla Ross and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hill, Will Hall, Mrs. Helen Martin, Mrs. Opal Turner, Mr. and Mrs. Joel Dudley and family and Louie Furlong visited Mr. and Mrs. Walter Furlong last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Hill and children of Shawneetown, Mrs. Leota Morse of Carrier Mills, Mr. and Mrs. John Richards, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Beggs and Mrs. Opal Turner and daughters visited Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hill.

Ice Cream Tie In

ALLEN ARK, Mich.—(UP)—Mayor Osborne Dunn, father of a 10-year-old daughter, said the reason an ice cream vendor was denied permission by the city council to amplify nursery rhymes from a sound truck as a means of increasing sales, was that it might build up an undesirable reflex action—a youngster's mouth would automatically water each time he heard a nursery rhyme.

Judge Confined

PARAMUS, N. J.—(UP)—After his companion had failed with a key, screwdriver and a knife, John Nicholas crawled through an open window, opened the door to the municipal court and found himself face to face with the judge.

That was fine with Judge Laverne M. Fake, because the door's lock was jammed and Nicholas and his companion, members of the local police force, were simply removing an obstacle to the administration of justice.

The Semper Fidelis club had a Halloween party Thursday night at the home of Mrs. Peggy Summers.

Each member invited a guest and all came masked. Games were enjoyed and gifts exchanged. Wanda Rouse and Barbara Crisp were judged to be the best masked and were the last two to be identified.

The hostess served refreshments of sandwiches, pop, candy, peanuts and pop corn to the following members and guests: Avalon Miller, Iva Crittendon, Anna Clingman, Anna Rouse, Irene Griffin, Mamie Williams, Barbara Crisp, Wanda Rouse, Joan Thomas and Veretas Williams.

LAKEVIEW AND LINCOLN HOME BUREAU HOLD JOINT MEETING

The Lakeview unit of Home Bureau and the Lincoln Home Bureau of Harrisburg held a joint meeting Monday night at the home of Mrs. Veretra Williams. Roll call was answered with "What article we enjoyed most that we made at the Home Bureau meetings in 1957."

Mrs. Martin Hunt, Saline county home adviser, presented the lesson on "How to Use Color in the Home."

Hagen Tells Historical Society Of Work to Restore Memorials

Richard S. Hagen, Historical Consultant, Division of Parks and Memorials, Springfield, was the guest speaker at the November meeting of the Saline County Historical Society held in the Mitchell-Carnegie Library on Tuesday evening.

Fifty members and guests were present to enjoy the color slides of the work completed on the restoration of the New Salem State Park, Lincoln's Home in Springfield, and the Grant's Home in Galena. Mr. Hagen told of the work of his staff of historical archaeologists in locating the foundations of each of the cabins that occupied the village of New Salem, Ill. It was to this village that Lincoln came as a young man of twenty-one. Excavations made helped find and establish parts of many household items that were cherished possessions of those who occupied the village for the short time of its existence, until the neighboring village of Petersburg outdistanced it. Mr. Hagen explained that the Ann Rutledge story which has always occupied an important place in any history of New Salem has been proven to be no more than a myth because Ann and Lincoln were friends only.

The Lincoln Home in Springfield was one of the first acquisitions of the State that came under the Division of Parks and Memorials but only recently has it been authentically restored. The home, visited by thousands each year, was acquired by Lincoln while a young lawyer in Springfield. Mr. Hagen stated that the general belief that Lincoln was a poor man when elected to the presidency was entirely erroneous because the Lincolns were at that time upper middle class people quite prosperous. A look at the house itself, said Mr.

Police Break Up Jeering Crowd Anti-Communists

NEW YORK — Police had to use nightsticks and mounted patrolmen Thursday night to break up a jeering crowd of anti-Communists outside the Soviet U. N. headquarters on Park Avenue.

Five persons were arrested during the nearly three-hour demonstration while Soviet representatives and their guests toasted the October revolution inside at a reception for an estimated 1,000 persons. Five policemen were injured.

The protesting throng of Hungarians, Poles and others was swelled to an estimated 700 at one point. Pickets smashed four bottles of red ink against the white stone wall of the embassy.

The demonstrators chanted and rushed police lines while the Soviets and guests dined and drank vodka behind locked doors and windows.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov offered congratulations to the American people on President Eisenhower's announcement that the United States had successfully fired a missile several hundred miles into space and brought it back intact.

"The Soviet people are very generous people," he said. "We believe that we should share our scientific advances."

One placard carried by demonstrators said "You can keep the moon, give us back Hungary." Another said "Sputnik's Message Decoded: I Want Freedom."

Sweetened Gas Catches Thieves

BENTON, Ill. — A Franklin County farmer used some sweetened gasoline to catch some thieves.

The farmer, John Burzynski, said some of his gasoline was stolen a week ago. So he mixed water, sugar and gasoline and left it in a can near his gasoline pump.

Authorities later arrested two boys who said their car would not run because someone put sugar in their gasoline. Authorities decided the boys had been punished enough and turned them loose.

Woman, 80 Soon, Is Write-In Winner In Election for JP

MARION, Ill. — Mrs. Laura Quinn, Marion, a write-in winner in a justice of the peace election, said today she will qualify and serve in the job.

Mrs. Quinn will be 80 next month and said "I'm proud of it."

Friends wrote in her name Tuesday with her consent and the official vote canvass Thursday showed that she was one of the winners.

The job won't be strange. Her husband, the late Maud Quinn, was justice of the peace in West Marion Township for more than 30 years. She did all his paper work in his last 10 years in office after his eyesight failed.

Mrs. Quinn is a Democrat.

President Names Missile 'Czar'

to every kind of distance, launching and use."

He said work on long range ballistic missiles "got into high gear more than two years ago" and "we have since been spending a billion dollars a year on this item alone."

He noted that "one difficult obstacle" to the successful firing of ballistic missiles was the problem of bringing them down on target at supersonic speeds and yet keep them from burning up like a meteor in the earth's atmosphere.

"Our scientists and engineers have solved that problem," he said. "This object here in my office is an experimental missile — a nose cone. It has been hundreds of miles to outer space and back. Here it is, completely intact."

He then pointed it out to his television audience. The nose cone, sitting on a red velvet-covered dolly to the President's left, was 32 inches high with a base diameter of 20 inches. It tapered to a rounded off 7 1/2-inch diameter at the top.

He said scientists had assured him "that we are well ahead of the Soviets in the nuclear field, both in quantity and quality" and "we intend to stay ahead."

"In numbers our stock of nuclear weapons is so large and so rapidly growing that we are able to disperse it to positions assuring it instant availability against attack, and still keep strong reserves."

The President also made these points:

—The Navy has "atomic submarines" and "in both oceans" and possesses an atomic depth bomb and work has started on an atomic powered aircraft carrier.

—"Our ballistic test missiles have had successful flights to as much as 3,500 miles. An intercontinental missile is required, and we have some of them in advance state of development."

—"But, because of our many forward positions, for us an intermediate range missile (1,500 miles) is for some purposes as good as an intercontinental one."

Eisenhower said the Russian space satellite is "an achievement of the first importance, and the scientists who brought it about deserve full credit and recognition."

But he said the earth satellites in themselves are no direct threat now. He said their real military significance "lies in the advanced techniques and the competence in military technology they imply" since powerful rockets are needed to launch them.

"In the main," he said, "the Soviets continue to concentrate on development of war-making weapons and supporting industries."

"This, as well as their political attitude in all international affairs, serves to warn us that Soviet expansionist aims have not changed."

"What the world needs today even more than a giant leap into space," the President said, "is a giant step toward peace."

Welch Named To TVA Board

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower has named Frank J. Welch, dean of agriculture at the University of Kentucky, as a member of the board of directors of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Welch also was given an interim appointment until Congress returns in January. He succeeds Raymond R. Paty, who died earlier this year and will fill the remainder of Paty's term which ends May 18, 1960.

The post pays $20,000 a year.

Employment Climb Slows

WASHINGTON (AP) — Total U. S. employment climbed by 300,000 to 66 million persons last month, the government reported today.

A joint Commerce and Labor Department statement said, however, that the pick-up was not as great as usual for this time of the year.

The rise was attributed to an increase in the number of farm workers over September, when bad weather caused a large decline in employment figures.

Non-farm employment, which normally shows an increase in October, dropped off 50,000 to 59,100,000.

Factory jobs dropped by 100,000 to 16,800,000, continuing a downward trend that began this year. The figure at the end of October was more than 470,000 below the same date last year.

Total unemployment in October was 2,500,000 — practically unchanged — even though seasonally the figure should decline, the statement said.

Man Who Said He Talked to Spacemen Sent to Hospital

KEARNEY, Neb. — A grain buyer who "threw Kearney into an uproar when he claimed to have talked with spacemen" was confined today to Hartings State Hospital for mental treatment.

Reinhold O. Schmidt, 48, of Bakerville, Calif., was committed Thursday night after a hearing by the Buffalo County Board of Mental Health.

Schmidt stirred considerable excitement and touched off a major investigation Tuesday when he raced into Kearney to tell of seeing a space ship parked on a creek bottom southwest of the city.

He said the occupants of the ship, four men and two women, were friendly enough and invited him to have a look around inside the cigar-shaped craft. The spacemen and women spoke German and English, he said.

Funeral Services Saturday for Rev. C. E. Sisney

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 2 p. m. at the Methodist church for the Rev. Chester Everett Sisney, who died Tuesday night at Kansas City, Kans. The Rev. W. L. Cummins will be in charge of the services and burial will be in the Masonic cemetery at Raleigh.

The body will lie in state Saturday morning at the Gaskins funeral home.

The Rev. Sisney was a former Methodist minister in the Southern Illinois conference until 1920 when he went into the Kansas conference.

His survivors include his wife the former Beulah Blake of Raleigh; a daughter, Lorna of Los Angeles, Calif.; two sons, Dwight Sisney of Chicago and Robert Sisney of Kansas City, Mo.; and his brothers and sisters: Mrs. J. I. Hess of Wasson, Mrs. Ada Perkins of Alton, Henry Sisney of Evansville, Ind., Hal Sisney, Peoria, and Homer Sisney, Pontiac, Mich.

Bridges Says Defense Costs Will Be Up Next Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Styles Bridges (R-N. H.) said following a talk with President Eisenhower today that next year's defense budget may be increased by one to two billion dollars to meet the cost of the nation's "accelerated" missile-satellite program.

He said increased defense costs will "make chances of a tax cut more dubious."

Bridges, chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee and a member of the Armed Services Committee had a breakfast conference with the President.

Talking to reporters afterward, he held out hope that the overall 1959 budget may show "some decrease" despite higher defense costs.

As one of the "more economy minded members of Congress," Bridges said he would support necessary spending. He predicted

Scientists Say Sputnik II May Have Separated

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Scientists said today dog-carrying Sputnik II may have separated into two parts.

Dr. John S. Rinehart, assistant director of Smithsonian Astro-physical Observatory, said he saw two objects in about the same trajectory 10 or 15 seconds apart at 4:23 a. m. c.s.t. today.

Dr. J. Allen Hynek, an associate director of the observatory, said Rinehart's observation seems to be "competent evidence that Sputnik II had separated in two parts."

Rinehart said he "was certain" that the second object was not a jet or a meteor.

But he said the sighting of the two objects does not necessarily mean there has been a separation of Sputnik II because "both objects may have been there since launching."

Scientists have speculated for several days whether Sputnik II was separating or splitting up. Their speculation was touched off by unusual radio signals from outer space.

Meanwhile, Dr. Fred L. Whipple, observatory director, said Russian astronomers have exchanged data on their satellites with U. S. scientists.

Whipple said he had received "direct from the astronomical council in Moscow" two messages with in the last 48 hours, containing information on the orbit of Sputnik II.

Nixon Vacationing

MIAMI (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon has arrived in Miami for a week-long secluded vacation. The vice president, who slipped into town Wednesday, was spotted dining at several restaurants Thursday. He is staying at his apartment at the exclusive Key Biscayne Hotel with a personal friend, C. G. Rebozo, a Miami businessman.

that Congress will appropriate "everything which is necessary."

Launch Missile 'Test Vehicle'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department announced the successful launching today of a missile "test vehicle" at the Cape Canaveral, Fla., test center.

A test vehicle is not a prototype of a weapon. It is a device to check equipment or get information for use in later development. A spokesman called the firing a "routine test." He would not say what missile project was concerned with the test.

The last announced test at Cape Canaveral was the successful launching of an Air Force Snark last week. The Snark is designed as a 5,000-mile range intercontinental missile.

Eldorado Wins Southern Illini Title With Victory On Rain-Swept Field

The Eldorado Eagles copped the championship of the Southern Illini conference Thursday night by taking a 34-0 decision from Metropolis. The victory gave Eldorado a 4-0 conference record.

On a rain-swept, water-soaked field the Eagles waded for five TDs, were successful on two conversion attempts and scored a safety, while holding the visitors to a minus yardage figure.

Thus two-thirds of the Eagles' goal for the season was accomplished. 1. Eldorado won the conference champion. 2. Conference opponents failed to cross the Eldorado goal line throughout the season.

And only one team—a highly-regarded Cairo squad—stands between the Eagles and the remainder of the goal, a perfect season.

Monday afternoon Eldorado travels to Cairo looking for victory No. 9 and the first unbeaten and untied Eldorado season in a long time—maybe in the school's long football history.

Few Fumbles

Statistics show the Eagles had a net gain of 312 yards from scrimmage, picked up five first and tens, lost the ball four times by fumbles, had a pass intercepted and suffered 55 yards in penalties. Metropolis had a net loss from scrimmage of 37 yards, picked up only one first and ten and that as the result of an Eagle penalty, lost the ball twice by fumbles and had two punts blocked.

The surprising thing was that there were so few fumbles as the ball was soaked and mud covered almost from the first play.

The Eagles started with a bang, scoring the first two times they had the football.

A bad pass from center on a Metropolis punt play set up the opening Eagle TD. On fourth down in the opening minutes the wet ball got away from the Metropolis center and rolled dead only two yards from the end zone.

On the second crack at the line Feuguay scored a TD. The PAT try failed.

Second Period Scoreless

With six minutes remaining to be played in the quarter Fowler broke over center and slogged 38 yards for a TD. Justice passed to Woods for the PAT.

The second quarter was scoreless, with Eldorado losing the ball two times by fumbles.

Early in the third quarter the Eagles had a scoring drive under way and were near the Metropolis 20 yard line when again a fumble was recovered by the alert Metropolis team.

The visitors failed to gain, then got off a short punt, the Eagles getting the ball on the M-37.

Feuguay, McCallister, Fowler and Justice combined to carry to the 19. On the next play there was a fumble, but Eagle tackle Bernard Goodley scooped up the ball and raced over for a TD, the only score of the third quarter.

Justice Scores Final TD

With the final frame less than two minutes old Feuguay slipped off tackle and went 44 yards for a TD.

For the next few minutes both teams had trouble controlling the ball. Eldorado recovered a Metropolis fumble on the M-38, then Metropolis intercepted an Eagle pass on the M-20, Eldorado partially blocked a punt, with Willis recovering on the M-18 again Eldorado fumbled with Metropolis recovering on the M18. With Metropolis back to punt Goodley broke through to block the kick and the ball rolled into the end zone for a safety and two more Eagle points.

Metropolis put the ball in play by kicking from the 20. McCallister carried almost to midfield, three plays showed a net of 2 yards, then Jerry Rains got loose and went about 48 yards for the final TD of the game. Feuguay carried for the PAT.

Few Fans Present

The game was played under about as adverse conditions imaginable and only a hand-full of coated, umbrella carrying fans were in the bleachers.

The Eagles were in charge of Assistant Coach Jim Redden as Coach Al Adams has been sick with the flu this week.

Starting lineup for Eldorado —

Bull Dog Squad in Poor Physical Shape for Tilt at Benton Saturday

The way the Harrisburg Bull Dog foot ball situation stood yesterday, Coach Lawrence Caluffetti could put only 13 varsity players on the field for the Saturday night conference game at Benton.

Thirteen was the crop. They were Wendell Fisher, Darrell Duke, Eddie Price, Ray Hassett and Mickey Stone in the backfield, and Jack Simpson, Ronnie Maynard, Darrell Biggs, Joe Wathen, and Don Pickford on the line.

There were two question marks at the time—Allen Buchanan, first string center, and Ben Barnhill, second string guard—who were home ill.

Out for the season are these varsity boys, plagued either by injury or illness: David Dalton, Ira Logan, Gary Aldridge, Gary Leverett, Carl Fleming, Bill Endsley and A. J. Bryant. Logan, Aldridge and Endsley were first eleven players all during the season until they were forced to give up the sport during the past week or two.

So with the Bull Dogs in worse shape than last week when they were walloped by West Frankfort, Coach Caluffetti apparently will take a number of sophomores with him to Benton. It will be the last varsity game of the year for the Bull Dogs. The Bull Pups face Benton freshmen and sophs here Monday night.

Last week Benton Coach Ralph Davison reported he had a lot of illness on his squad, and it was not known just how his team has been faring physically this week.

Two South Seven conference games were on the agenda for tonight, Marion travelling to Herrin

Moore Favored Over Cotero Tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — Davey Moore is favored at 12-5 to beat Jose Cotero tonight in their featherweight contenders TV fight at the new Capitol Arena.

This 10-rounder between slambang Moore of Springfield, Ohio, and speedy Cotero of Los Angeles will be televised and broadcast nationally by NBC at 9 p. m. c. s. t. Each is 24, aggressive and tough. Neither has been stopped. A difference of opinion about their merits is reflected in the rating of the Ring Magazine and the National Boxing Association. The Ring ranks Cotero fifth and Moore sixth. But the NBA tabs Moore number four and Cotero number seven.

Tom Baugher and Jim Woods ends, Mike McMahon and Bernard Goodley tackles, Ronnie Rains and Bob Holman guards, Fred Pool center. Carl Justice quarterback, Lester Feuguay and Chuck McCallister halfbacks and Jack Fowler fullback. Seeing considerable action were Jerry Rains, Gary Bray, Ronnie Hall, John Everett, Gary Greasons, Parvin Coker, Leonard Willis and others.

Officials: Strusz, Carbondale; Roberts, Murphysboro; Inglehart, Wolf Lake.

Midwest Coaches Say Any Of Top Eight in Big 10 too Tough for Sooners, Aggies

CHICAGO (AP)—Texas A & M and Oklahoma may be running one-two in the national football rankings, but midwestern coaches are about ready to challenge them to play not the top Big Ten team, but any one of the top eight.

"I'm not sure what team is the best in the country," one coach said, "but I know it has to be one of these four — Iowa, Michigan State, Michigan or Ohio State. And in three more weeks, I'll know which one of those is the best."

Oklahoma's prestige suffered badly in Big Ten country when the Sooners nudged Colorado by 1 point and beat Kansas State by only 13 points. At the same time, Indiana gave indirect indication of Big Ten power.

The Hoosiers have won only one game, 14-7 over Villanova, and have been drubbed by conference foes in every other contest. The week after the Hoosier victory, Villanova lost again, 13-7 to Miami, rated as one of the southern power-houses.

"There are only two teams in the Big Ten this year that would n't be apt to beat Oklahoma or the Aggies," another coach said "Northwestern and Indiana."

"Throw out the top four teams and let them play one of the next four, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois or Purdue. It would be an even game."

Looking at the records of the so-called top four, there's some merit to the contention that conference play knocks the luster off the Big Ten clubs.

Unbeaten Iowa has a tie to mar its record, with Michigan. The Wolverines have lost once, to Michigan State. Michigan State has lost once, to Purdue. Ohio State has lost once, after a fourth period fumble set up Texas Christian's game winning touchdown.

So far this season, Big Ten teams have lost only three inter-sectional games. Winless Northwestern dropped two of these, to Oregon State and Stanford, and Illinois lost its opener to UCLA. But inter-sectional victims have been Utah State, Washington State, Washington twice, Southern California, California, Georgia and West Virginia.

"The fair thing," another coach said, "would be for Oklahoma to trade schedules with Indiana. For the rest of this year and next too."

Warriors Beat Knicks, 113-101

By United Press

The Philadelphia Warriors, who are bidding their time until Tom Gola returns from the Army, are nevertheless holding down second place in the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Association.

ta, Carmi at McLeansboro, Zeigler at Johnston City, Pinckneyville at Du Quoin.

Two contests are set for Armistice Day next Monday—Eldorado at Cairo and Carbondale at Murphysboro.

The Warriors knocked off New York, 113-101, in Thursday night's only schedule game to give them a 3-2 season's record and a half-game edge over the third-place Knicks. Neil Johnston enjoyed his best night of the season as popped in 34 points for the winners.

Philadelphia took an early 15-6 lead which the Knicks could never overcome. The Warriors led 58-49 at the half and commanded a seven-point margin at the start of the final quarter.

Woody Sauldsberry celebrated his first starting role since coming from the Harlem Globetrotters with an 18-point surge for the Warriors. George Dempsey, who also sparked on defense, contributed 19 points to the win.

Six teams will be in action to night as the Knicks travel to Syracuse, Philadelphia meets Minneapolis at Hershey and Cincinnati entertains Boston.

SOMETHING crashed. McKee knocked loudly. The silence inside was sudden and complete, then the door opened again, slowly.

Florrie Brown was terrified when McKee introduced himself; so was Robert Brown, in a different way. There was insolence and furious temper in his blue stare, his rigid stance.

The warfare in which the Browns had been engaged before he entered stopped in the face of a common threat. Bob Brown was a tall, slight, handsome, highly strung fellow with an arrogant manner and raw nerves. He was holding a blood-stained handkerchief to his wrist, evidently where the cat had scratched him.

Florrie Brown wore an elaborate and expensive negligee with a coffee stain down the front and a tear in the sleeve that revealed some of her charms. She was a good-looking girl, robust, lusty and completely unable to conceal her feelings.

Lying on the floor between them was a wad of bills, tens and twenties, that Florrie had snatched from her husband. Both the Browns carefully ignored the money. So did the Scotsman. That he should have intruded in the middle of a quarrel between them was not fortuitous; from what he had been able to gather they were always quarreling, generally about money.

They waited tensely for the Scotsman to state his business. McKee did so. They both relaxed. On the previous Friday, Florrie Brown had been in Boston from 10 in the morning until 9 at night, and Brown had been at work at the lab until 6 p. m.

He returned to his car through blanketing wetness, had to feel for the fender and follow it in the total obscurity. He got in, sat back, and waited.

Less than five minutes later Bob Brown came out and got into his own car, a swashbuckling and expensive two-seater parked near the gate. His lights punctured the blackness faintly, faded as he shot off in the direction of the village. Just short of it he pulled up. McKee had to brake with caution; the greasy surface was wet. Brown was waiting for someone. It was a woman. She got into the car with Brown and they drove on. The woman who had joined Bob Brown was Crystabel Dolwin.

There was a telephone booth on the grocery-store porch. McKee crossed the road and telephoned Carney. Brown and Miss Dolwin were on their way into Provincetown—"I'd like to know where they go, Lieutenant."

Carney said he'd put a man on it.

The Tasks were both at home. The Scotsman stumbled up a bank and across tussocks of grass, his hands out, and Carlotta Task admitted him to a spacious kitchen dining-sitting room. It was warm and bright. The furniture was variegated, well worn, comfortable and strictly for use; no evidence of money here. Mrs. Task wore blue jeans and a man's white shirt and moccasins with rips in them. Her husband had been late at the plant and was showering. She said smilingly, "I'll get him, Inspector."

Steven Task appeared briefly in the passageway at the far end of the room, a towel around his middle. He grinned, dove for his bed room and came out in a robe and slippers.

Bob Brown was a boy; there was something unfinished, immature in Felix Satterlee; Steven Task was a man. He was solidly built but his flesh was hard. He had brains, force, great physical vitality, and a combination of toughness and warmth that would be particularly attractive to women. Carlotta was his second wife and 10 years younger and obviously adored him.

"I know you're a busy man, Inspector—what can we do for you?"

The Scotsman was equally direct, asked his questions about the previous Friday. Carlotta Task was sitting in a child's chair at a little table stringing beans. She let her hands fall, gave a cry.

"What were we... But—surely the police don't suspect us?"

Task seemed to think so. "Use your head, love. We were in New York when Melville was killed—if he was killed—and we were right here when that fellow was bumped off next door practically under our noses."

Task had been at the plant from around nine a. m. until almost mid night; they were running tests on a new mud that had looked promising. Carlotta Task had spent the morning in bed, she had had a touch of sinus; in the afternoon she had gone to a Scout meeting.

It was all apparently open and aboveboard, and yet Steven Task was worried.

It was the revelation that Grant Melville had been a blackmailer that got to him. When McKee said so Steven Task froze. He sat staring like a man transfixed. Then he was up and on his feet pacing the floor, his hand thrusts into his pockets, his mouth a line.

"That dog," he said with concentrated bitterness, "now we know I never liked him. Whoever killed Grant Melville ought to be given a bonus."

McKee said, "The fact that Melville was a blackmailer explains something to you, Mr. Task, something important? What is it?"

"I know nothing."
"But you suspect something."
"Suspicion isn't knowledge."

Bank Deposit History Repeats Itself

HARTFORD Conn. (AP)—It took 165 years to the day but history actually did repeat itself as far as the Bull family was concerned.

In 1792 Michael and Thomas Bull deposited $930.69 when the old McKee had often given the same answer himself.

Hartford Bank, now the Hartford National Bank and Trust Co., first opened.

The brothers, described by historians as "one of the more prosperous partnerships in the city," were the first and only customers of the bank on opening day. The nature of their business wasn't recorded.

The modern Bulls, Leonard H. Bull and his brother Albert P. Jr., plumbing and heating contractors of Bloomfield, duplicated their ancestors' deposit to the penny on the anniversary of the opening. The money was placed in the same iron chest that the earlier Bull brothers' funds were kept in.

A NEW KIND OF CAR IS BORN!

Tomorrow at Your Pontiac Dealer's!

BOLDEST ADVANCE IN 50 YEARS!

THE GOLDEN JUBILEE CAR!

It's a revolution on wheels—boldly planned from the very beginning as a Golden Anniversary showpiece for Pontiac and General Motors.

This one you really must see—here is a car unlike any you have ever known! This Golden Jubilee Pontiac is actually an all-new breed of cars—in four brilliant series and 16 sleek models covering virtually every price bracket.

In all of them you'll find engineering advances so daringly different yet so basically sound that they will trigger the next big change in automobile design. You'll find a few of these ideas illustrated here, but even they can't begin to tell the full story.

Why not be among the first to discover the newest. When you meet this bold new Pontiac, you're in for a driving thrill that is impossible to duplicate in cars of conventional design. So make it a point to see your Pontiac dealer soon and prove to yourself that no car in history ever left yesterday so far behind!

Ever-Level Air Ride*

The most perfect suspension system ever designed—and Pontiac's revolutionary Aero-Frame is specifically designed for it! Air cushions on all four wheels literally float you over the bumps... keep the car perfectly level regardless of load or road!

*An extra-cost option.

Aero-Frame STABILITY

Here is the biggest basic construction change since the early days of motoring. Pontiac's revolutionary new frame design is lighter, stronger, more stable than the conventional box type used on other cars.

Circles-of-Steel SAFETY

Pontiac's completely new body construction surrounds you with girder steel protection—above, below, fore and aft. Now you can drive with wonderful new peace of mind!

Quadra-Poise ROADABILITY

Only the wheels know where the bumps are! Pontiac's new suspension geometry ends dive, sway and bounce to bring you the smoothest ride, easiest handling you've ever known!

Tempest 395 PERFORMANCE

Try Pontiac's new jewel-like action, responsive scores of exclusive engineering innovations make Pontiac's hefty power plant a miracle of smoothness... and you can choose from four horsepower ratings including Tri-Power Carburetion* and Fuel Injection*.
